

In the Interest of Seeming Human

Mir Adams

Sometimes it is hard not to feel like the reflection of light off a steel blade. Sometimes it is hard to remember you are a human person with a pulse unendowed by a screen. Sometimes it is hard to remember today ends in night but it will be day again tomorrow. Sometimes the flash of the future ricks off the face and that is all you have.

